GENERAL NEWS

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN

Report that Tilden will Withdraw

NEW YORK, April 6—The Star has a Washington dispatch announcing that Tilden is resolved to withdraw as a candidate for the presidency.

Fatal Shooting Affray

SANTA FE, April 6—Last night W[illegible] without provocation shot [illegible] Sunday, knocking off two [illegible] returned the fire and killed Robinson instantly. Robinson was intoxicated.

Death of Gen Reynold

LANCASTER, Pa, April 6—Gen James F Reynold, the well known soldier lawyer and politician, died yesterday, in his 80th year.

Immigrants from Ireland

NEW YORK, April 6—More than four thousand emigrants arrived at this port yesterday, the largest number for a long time. These arrivals represent a much better class of emigrants than usual and embrace many well to do Irish farmers and their families.

Railroad Wreck.

MERIDEN, Conn, April 6—The night express that left Boston at 10 last night for New York via Springfield was partially wrecked by the caving of an embankment about three miles north of this city. Nobody injured seriously.

Grant to Visit Memphis

MEMPHIS, April 6—Gen Grant will visit this city for a few hours on Thursday.

Fire

MINNEAPOLIS, April 6—Brackett's block was burned this morning. Loss $160,000; insurance, $82,000. Nothing was saved. It is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

Marine Disaster.

[illegible], April 6—The crew of the disabled and water-logged British bark [illegible] arrived by the ship Shannon. Part of the crew perished.

Trying to "Straddle" on the Chinese Question.

NEW YORK, April 6—The Commercial Bulletin, commenting on an interview between Secretary Evarts and Congressman Willis regarding a resolution of inquiry on the Burlingame treaty, says: The secretary is endeavoring to perform an impossibility. It is trying to carry water on both shoulders. The problem of securing the approval of the Pacific people and at the same time to preserve commercial relations with China simply cannot be done. California's approval is only to be had by expelling the Chinese from the Pacific coast altogether, and if such expulsion is permitted by the government, we may as well abandon all expectations of preserving our commercial relations with China in their own country. The interests of the whole country are paramount to the prejudices of California, and particularly also to whatever political or partisan considerations are entering into the controversy in connection with the presidential election.

Victory at Columbus, Ohio

COLUMBUS, April 6.—Complete returns show that Graham, republican, is elected mayor by 61 majority, and Dent, republican, police commissioner by 84 majority. [illegible], democrat, is elected police commissioner, and Olnhausen, democrat, is elected justice of the peace. The republicans elect 11 members of the city council and the democrats 9. The board of education is a tie. Returns from outside towns show large republican gains.

Tilden Scores Again.

NEW YORK, April 6—Clinton county democrats elected their delegates to the state convention to-day. They are headed by the well known Smith M Weed, and, of course, are solid for Tilden.

New York Walking Match

NEW YORK, April 6—Dobler has the best record, 177½ miles. Blower Brown, in England, February last, scored just 177 miles in 36 hours. Dobler's right foot pained him last night, but O'Leary put a porous plaster on it and relaxed the muscles, and he thinks that his most sanguine backer could desire. Hart is next in the race, looks fresh and moves with an elastic step.

Grant's Visit to Mobile.

MOBILE, April 6.—Gen. Grant has accepted the invitation of colored citizens to visit this city.

Fresh with Indians in Montana.

[illegible], April 6—A Times special from [illegible] Point, Montana, under date of the 3d, says: Capt. Huggins, with three companies of the 2d cavalry, who started out after the Sioux on the 25th, overtook them [illegible] 35 miles south of here. The troops charged the camp and captured 46 ponies, but the Indians got into a ravine and could not be got out. Sergeant Johnson, of the 2d cavalry, was killed during the fight. Gen. Miles, who was on the east, hearing of the fight stopped at Fallon creek, and he now awaits arrivals of reinforcements, which left Fort Keogh Friday night under Lieut. Clarke. A later dispatch says the Indians were captured and that the [illegible] got away on foot.

Outrage on a Colored Cadet.

[illegible], April 6—Johnson C Whittaker, colored, cadet of West Point, class of [illegible], was found bound hand and foot in his room at the barracks, with a piece of one ear cut off. The other ear was slit and his head bruised. He stated that three masked men seized him while he was in bed some time after midnight and committed the outrage. Gen. Schofield and Commandant Lazelle are investigating the affair. It is believed that the outrage was committed by cadets.

Whittaker says that the men jumped on and seized him in bed, threatening to kill him if he made a noise, and then put him on the floor and tied his feet to the bedstead, saying, "Let us mark him like they do hogs down south." They then slit his ears. As yet there is no clue, but each cadet has been questioned.

Little Children Burned to Death.

[illegible], April 6—Three colored children, two and three years old, were burned to death to-day, two miles north of this city. Their parents were at church.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

[illegible], April 6—The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church in the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Arkansas, and the territories of Dakota and Wyoming, met in convention Friday and adjourned sine die to-day. The attendance was large and the meeting was the most interesting and profitable in the history of the society. Ten thousand dollars was raised for missionary purposes during the year and it is expected that the amount will be doubled during the ensuing year. The next convention will be held at Marysville, Missouri.

The Telegraph War

[illegible], April 6—An injunction, asked for by the American Union against the W[illegible] Co., was dismissed to-day.

Arrival of English Princes at Bermudas

NEW YORK, April 5—H M S Bacchante, from Jamaica, having on board Princes Albert Victor and George of Wales, arrived at the dock yard at Bermuda Monday last. In consequence of their youth a rule has been made that the young princes are not to receive public honors usually accorded to royalty, hence the lack of demonstration upon the arrival of the Bacchante.

WASHINGTON CITY

The Exodus Investigation

WASHINGTON, April 6—Before the exodus committee S J Waters, a lawyer of Fort Scott, Kansas, testified that negroes complained of bulldozing, hard times and poor pay.

J. B. Wheeler, of St Louis (colored), manager of the relief association, thought that 25,000 colored emigrants had located in Kansas and the movement is increasing.

M. Case, mayor of Topeka, thought that from 8,000 to 10,000 had come into Shawnee county within six months. Several relief associations in Topeka looked after them, receiving contributions from all over the country, and even from Europe. Some republicans thought that Kansas was getting too many negroes. They were a trifle discontented with their situation in Kansas which they thought would be better. They did not improve their condition by coming so numerously.

Before the exodus committee several witnesses testified to the undesirability of Kansas for emigrants. Citizens account their prosperity per contra.

CONGRESSIONAL.

House

WASHINGTON, April 5

(Continuation of Monday's proceedings.)

Answering Manning, Springer said that he had requested Physter and Armfield to vote to unseat Washburn, but denied asking them to favor Donnelly. He had held aloof till the last moment that his judgment might be unbiased except by the facts.

Beer corroborated Springer, and Keefer, republican member of the committee, and said that he had always understood that Springer would vote against Donnelly. Physter, a member, also had understood Springer's position the same way. Manning alone had not so understood him.

Springer then challenged any member to assert that he had practiced deception in the matter. He declared that he would not ask investigation, but if anybody wished such committee he would testify on oath what he had said to-day. He had not intended to deceive Manning.

Expressions of approval and sympathy greeted him as he closed.

Manning said that Springer had not lied in telling him time and time again that he was with the committee on both points. He defended Donnelly, and the discussion dropped.

Weaver moved to suspend the rules and adopt the following:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this house that all currency, whether metallic or paper, necessary for the use and convenience of the people, shall be issued and its volume controlled by the government, and not by or through a band of corporations of the country, and when so issued it should be a full legal tender in payment of all debts public and private.

Resolved, That in the judgment of this house that portion of interest bearing bonds of date of 1881 of the United States which shall be redeemable in the year 1881 or prior thereto, being in amount about $728,000,000, should not be refunded beyond the power of the government to call in such obligations and pay them at any time, but should be paid as rapidly as possible according to contract. To enable the government to meet these obligations, the mints of the United States shall be operated to their full capacity in the coinage of standard silver dollars and such other coinage as the business interests of the country may require.

Garfield described the proposition as having some good things in it, but called attention to its three salient points: first, that money, whether coin or paper, was to be manufactured and issued by the government directly, and was to be a legal tender. Never had a proposition for such far searching centralism been offered in congress. It surpassed all centralism and all cæsarism that had ever been charged on the republican party in the wildest days of the war. Prior to 1862 the wildest dreamer in American politics had never been wild enough to propose such a measure of centralization. The second point was that the government should pay its public as well as private debts in such manufactured money, despite the pledge of the government to pay in coin.

Ewing held that Garfield misunderstood the resolution.

Garfield continued. The third point was that there was to be no refunding, but all bonds should be paid in manufactured paper. He denounced the last spasm of a dying party, and called democrats and republicans alike to throttle it, thus showing their courage.

Kelley said that Garfield's remarks were balderdash. The government made all the money, gold or silver, or paper. Secretary Chase spoke wisely when he said that the control of the debt is vastly more important than the rate of interest.

Weaver was happy at getting a vote on his resolution. Garfield did not surprise him. He denied that Garfield's three points had any force. This was merely a square issue whether banking corporations or the government should control and issue currency. Centralization indeed! That congress chosen for two years was not to be trusted, and that bankers were! He asked in the name of Thomas Jefferson and in the name of the struggling poor to stand up and say that the government should issue money.

The resolution was defeated—yeas 84, noes 117. Following is the affirmative vote: Armfield, Atherton, Atkins, Beale, Belford, Berry, Becknell, Blackburn, Bland, Cabel, Clardy, Clark of Missouri, John, Coffroth, Colerick, Cook, Cox, Culberson, Davidson, Davis of Missouri, Davis of North Carolina, De La Matyr, Debril, Dickey, Dunn, Elam, Ewing, Felton, Finley, Ford, Forney, Forsyth, Frost, Geddins, Gillette, Guster, Harris of Louisiana, Hatch, House, Hull, Jones, Kelley, Kenna, Ladd, Lewis, Manning, McKenzie, McMillan, Mills, Muldrow, Murch, Myers, Newmichas, Persons, Phelps, Phillips, Reagan, Richmond, Robertson, Rothwell, Russell of North Carolina, Ryan of Pennsylvania, Sawyer, Scales, Singleton of Mississippi, Singleton of Illinois, Smith of Georgia, Sparks, Speer, Steel, Stephenson, Taylor, Tillman of Ohio, Turner, Vance, Waddell, Weaver, Wellborne, Whitehead, Williams of Alabama, Willis and Wilson—84.

Senate

WASHINGTON, April 6

The senate considered Maxey's bill authorizing a retired list of non commissioned officers of thirty years service.

Logan, Hampton and Burnside favored it. Beck opposed it.

The morning hour expired and the Ute bill was taken up.

Pendleton advocated it and went over the history of the various negotiations with the Utes, and stated that he believed wrongs had been committed on both sides and that a feeling of irritation existed up to the time of the massacre. To-day 45,000 enterprising settlers are pressing upon the 4000 Indians. The government has either to make war upon the Indians in the interest of the settlers or on settlers in the interest of the Indians. The only alternative is to make an arrangement advantageous to both Indians and settlers, as is attempted in this agreement. It observed treaty rights and inaugurated what is now required—namely a new Indian policy. The old policy of large reservations and recognition of tribal organizations was suitable to the time when vast areas of land lay unoccupied and seemed not likely to be needed for settlement in at least a century. Pendleton showed that a large appropriation was made in the bill for schools, but after all he thought the most powerful and effective method of education was to grant property rights.

Morgan asked the senator whether the committee on Indian affairs thought there was any reason for making the treatment of the Utes an exception of the general Indian policy.

Pendleton thought that he could properly state that the committee was likely to present a bill and might be enforced so to extend the principle of this bill to all Indians and thus obviate the necessity for [illegible] legislation on the Indian question, but there was urgent necessity for immediate action in regard to this particular tribe.

Morgan understood that the real urgency was the controversy between the secretary of the interior and [illegible] secretary of war.

Teller made some remarks in which he took a different view from that of Pendleton concerning the treatment of the Utes by the whites, and claimed that they were not maltreated by the people of Colorado. He reiterated that the trouble was due to maladministration on the part of the interior department, and alleged that the secretary had not sent all the information to the senate that had been called for.

Hill said that the bill was not claimed by any one to be perfect, but it was the best thing [illegible] [illegible] thought practicable. He [illegible] the statement of Teller that the interior department had [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] women with a [illegible] [illegible] sympathy with the Indians and said that [illegible] was withheld at the urgent [illegible] [illegible] women and for their benefit [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Indian ways [illegible] [illegible]. This bill was to meet a sudden emergency. Adjourned.

The bill was then read for amendments. Sparks, under instructions from the military committee, offered an amendment giving regular commissioned surgeons preference in the [illegible] to contract surgeons, the latter not to be called until all the former are employed.

McCook opposed the amendment. He would never vote to reduce a single officer or private soldier nor cut down the pay of any man.

No quorum appeared when the vote was taken and the house adjourned.

FINLEY'S BUNGLE.

SINFUL SAMMY SQUARELY CAUGHT

The Damaging Developments Reviewed by the New York Papers—Finley of Course Denies

[illegible] NEW YORK, April [illegible]

[illegible] What[illegible] have been the part taken by Tilden in the [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] presidential [illegible] [illegible] Tilden's [illegible] things [illegible]

[illegible] proved that it would [illegible] change the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] it be [illegible] true that were he to be the candidate of the democratic party he would be the chief one to profit by it. What is interesting to the public is that the scheme hatched and came very near being prosecuted to a successful issue so far as the committee on elections was concerned. That it failed was due to the courage and independence of those members of the committee who would not surrender their conscience at the behest of party leaders. Its failure is a sign that the more respectable portion of the democrats are weary of the desperate task put upon them by the incessant trickery on which their leaders seem to rely.

A few more such lessons may convince the men who are managing the democratic party that some slight semblance of a definite policy would be desirable on their part, and that political contests in the United States cannot always be conducted by chicanery. It is to be hoped that the next lesson will come from the senate in the matter of the attempt to steal the seat of Kellogg of Louisiana.

The World says: The democrats would like to know who are Finley's friends in New York, and how many there are of them, and who are those who are perhaps personally most to be affected by Springer's decision, and with whom Finley still holds the closest and most confidential relations. Why does not Finley speak out? or if from his close and confidential relations with somebody else Finley has lost the habit of speaking out, why does not a committee of the house gratify the curiosity of the democrats of the country by making Finley speak out?

Other journals are editorially silent, though the Herald's Washington special says the point in the transaction which Finley missed entirely and which act is the gravest is that he is on record in his own letter as urging Springer to decide a question on mere party grounds for party necessities, which Springer was bound to decide and did decide on oath as judge and his honor as a gentleman and upon the facts developed. Finley denies that he wrote the anonymous letter or that he spoke for Tilden in the other. There are so many questions involved in the Springer-Manning-Tilden-Finley imbroglio in the house yesterday that it would be difficult to exactly give the impression on the public and the press as to the merits of the affair.

The Tribune says in several different articles that the serious feature of the dispute is not the attempt of a political lobbyist to coerce a member of the house by means of annoyance and threatening letters, though that is serious enough, but the fact that this fellow working by disreputable means to the worst ends should be shown by his own words and acts to be simply the instrument of the most conspicuous candidate for the presidency. In other words Finley, who has been known about Washington for four years as an agent of Tilden, writes to Springer virtually ordering him to commit the iniquity of unseating Washburne and seating Donnelly and doing so practically in the name of Tilden. It is true that Tilden's name is not used. Foolish as the letter was, for an expert in the dirty ways of politics, Finley was not so foolish as that, but he tells Springer that "our friends in New York," and again "those who are perhaps personally most to be affected by the decision are especially anxious that it shall be made." No one can read the letter without feeling that the writer is expressing the wishes of Tilden and doing it by his authority, though not probably in a way that he would have approved. It is possible of course that Finley claimed more authority than he had, just as it is possible that Tilden's enterprising nephew may have concerted all of the intricate legal plots of the cipher conspiracy. No doubt Tilden's friends will say so, but a wicked world will persist in believing that he has been caught again. Finley writes to Springer that Minnesota must be saved in much the same way Finley's alleged employer saved his income tax. When Finley, who openly claims to be Tilden's agent, writes to Springer that those who are perhaps personally most to be affected by the ousting of Washburn and the seating of Donnelly are anxious to have it done at once, this is proof as strong as holy writ that the object of that performance is just what the republicans have charged from the first, viz: the control of the house of representatives in the event of the election of president by the states.

A Very Lame Excuse from Finley

WASHINGTON, April 6—A H Finley has issued a card and says:

Of the charge of Representative Springer that a certain anonymous letter dated March 4th and mailed March 8th, in which $5,000 was offered him if he would support W D Washburn in the Donnelly contested election case, was written by me or by some one for me, I desire to state unequivocally and positively that I never wrote any such letter or employed any other person to write it, and did not know of its existence until after Mr Springer had shown it to Geo W Julian. Springer at the time he made the charge also read a letter of mine dated March [illegible] 1880, in which I strongly urged him to support Donnelly. There is nothing in that letter to regret. I do not speak or pretend to speak for Tilden. I spoke as a democrat in the name of the democrats. I believe the state of Minnesota was stolen away from the democracy by unparalleled bribery and intimidation, and I was in favor of restoring it to the democratic column of states where it properly belongs. I had many times conversed with Springer on the subject, and he had as he repeatedly assured me agreed with me in these views, and said that he would vote to seat Donnelly. Only one week before the date of the anonymous letter Springer volunteered the remark to me that the democratic party had already received as much abuse for the Donnelly-Washburn case as it could receive, and he was in favor of going ahead and at once seating Donnelly. I was astonished beyond expression when I learned a few days afterwards that the republicans were claiming Springer as upon their side. I wrote therefore earnestly and warmly because I did not wish to see Springer injure his own reputation and at the same time oppose the great interests of the democratic party. If I spoke too strongly in that letter or in any other way, if I was guilty of any impropriety, I regret it. I have no hostility to Springer and no desire to do him injustice. I do think however it would only have been fair upon his part when [illegible] [illegible] a charge [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a committee of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the records of the same body with the attack was made.

The [illegible] elections committee [illegible] [illegible] on Manning's resolution that [illegible] paper be ordered [illegible] excluded and [illegible] same [illegible] Manning's resolution [illegible] injunction of secrecy from the [illegible] [illegible] proceedings [illegible] [illegible] action from the past [illegible]

The Irish Parliamentary Elections

NEW YORK, April 6—A Cork special to the Telegram announces the following result of the parliamentary elections: Daly (home ruler) 1123, Parnell 1505, Goulding (conservative) 1177, Murphy (conservative) 903. The two first named were elected. Daly is a partisan of Parnell not only in the land league but also in the obstruction policy. Murphy, who is defeated, and against whom Parnell directed his entire hostility, accepted the home rule platform with a cautious reservation compatible with the integrity of the United Kingdom.

LONDON, April 6—Additional gains of home rulers are reported, among them Charles Stewart Parnell, who is elected from Cork City over Nickols de Murphy, liberal. Parnell only recently concluded to make a contest for the election, declaring that the present aspect of things rendered it necessary to have a strong enough Irish party in parliament to force concessions from the whig government.

The watchman came from the east [illegible] [illegible] Thomas [illegible] [illegible] They bought a team [illegible] [illegible] Snake river to hunt land. Both men and women arrived there. The men left the women at a ranch and went land hunting. After a few days Brumfield returned and told around that Thomas would meet them at Deep creek, and the two women with him went to meet him there. Brumfield pretended that he had received a letter from Thomas stating that he had gone to Colfax to enter his claim, and the party turned back. That night Thomas' wife was killed and Brumfield sold his team to Bassett, who brought them to this city, and without stopping took them to the railroad depot, and that is the last of them so far. The greatest indignation prevails here, and any amount of money will be given if the murderers are captured. The parties when they arrived here represented themselves as uncle and nephew.

Description of the Suspected Parties

Later—Following is a description of John Brumfield and wife, supposed murderers of the woman recently found four miles south of Big lake, in Whitman county, Washington territory:

His description—Height five feet seven or eight inches, very slim, will weigh about 135 or 140 pounds, small mustache light, slightly sandy, [illegible] or [illegible] years of age, has dark brown hair, very thin, long star in center of forehead, pink birth mark about [illegible] left ear clipped, dark scar on right side of head well up and back with no hair on it; when he is sitting he holds his head down and chews his moustache; when last seen was dressed in a dark suit of yellowish brown color, wore a striped blue and brown shirt, and answers to the name of John Brumfield.

Her description—Height, 5 feet 3 or 4 inches, very straight and slender, medium weight, brunette with dark hazel eyes, rather small teeth, short and close together, wears No 1½ shoe; steps very high, natural dent in forehead, wells up brown hair banged; claims to have come from Kansas City.

The murdered woman's age was between 20 and [illegible] years; had dark hair, rather short, very small hands, right arm tattooed with India ink, the character being a figure with the letters M [illegible] directly under, and a [illegible] still under them that could not be distinguished; answered to the name of Lizzie Thomas. Her father's name was Ware, and he lives near Kansas City. She claimed to have been from there six or seven months.

A reward of $1,000 will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1880.

MORE "GOBBLE" BUSINESS.

A disagreement among democratic politicians at Washington has developed the true and at the same time infamous inwardness of the scheme to unseat Washburn of Minnesota, who was elected by 3000 majority, and to give Donnelly the seat. It was already known well enough that the object of this scheme was to steal the vote of Minnesota in the event of the presidential election being thrown into the house of representatives. Of course this was denied; but now through this quarrel we have documentary evidence in proof of it direct from democratic sources. A majority of the committee on elections had decided that Washburn was to be unseated. But the authors of the outrage failed to carry it through the house, though only a vote or two was wanting to accomplish it. Some of the fairer and more judicious democratic members hesitated, and finally refused, to sanction so great an outrage, fearing no doubt the consequences to the party in the next election. It appears that Springer, chairman of the committee on elections, was willing to unseat Washburn, but could not be induced to seat Donnelly. About a month ago, when the case was engaging much of the attention of the house, Springer received an anonymous letter offering to pay his wife $5000 if he would keep Washburn in his seat. Two days later a letter was received from Henry A. Finley, a noted democratic politician and a well known agent of Samuel J. Tilden, urging him to seat Donnelly, and giving as reasons therefor "the importance of the matter as it may develop in regard to the election of the next president." But Springer was not long in making the discovery that the anonymous letter offering a bribe of $5000 to keep Washburn in his seat was also written by Finley as a ruse to further the main design. By some means these details fell into the hands of a reporter of a Washington newspaper, and their publication has brought the whole affair into the light of day. In justification of his own course Springer has produced the letters and given their history. Hence the country sees now at once into the lowest depths of this well elaborated scheme of partisan scoundrelism.

From Finley's letter it appears that the subject had been referred to New York, where great interest was taken in it, and he had promised that the report of the committee would be adopted and Donnelly seated at once. But there was an annoying delay in the programme; and this letter was written to hurry matters up. Of course the remarks about New York could refer only to Tilden, who, as it thus conclusively appears, was engineering the scheme, and who was referred to by Finley as "those personally most to be affected by the result." But Finley had begun to doubt Springer, and deemed it time to set before him in the strongest possible way the partisan reasons for consummation of the villainy. Springer, it seems, was willing to send the case back to Minnesota for a new election. But this would not answer the purposes of Finley and those with whom he holds "most confidential relations" in New York, since the republican majority of 3000 would certainly be repeated, and perhaps doubled. Hence in view of all the facts and the necessities of Mr. Tilden, it seemed "incredible" to Mr. Finley that Mr. Springer should hesitate to "carry out the wishes of our friends in this matter." This affair is a new revelation of Tilden's political methods. It is to be placed in the same category with the effort to "gobble" Oregon with the cipher dispatches and with the dicker with the South Carolina returning board. Besides, it shows that the Tilden managers have distinctly in view a design to muddle the electoral college, and then take the election to the house of representatives. Otherwise, there would be no point whatever in the scheme to get an additional representative in Minnesota.

But Mr. Tilden may easily deny his agency in this intrigue. As he knew nothing about the Oregon swindle, so he may affect to be ignorant of this; and as he never heard of the corrupt proposals revealed by the cipher dispatches till publication of those dispatches acquainted him with the fact that he had a bad nephew about him, so now his first inkling of this attempt to steal the state of Minnesota may have been obtained from the publication of the letter written by this wicked Finley, who seems to have abused the confiding man's open guileless and trustful nature to as shameful an extent as Pelton ever did. It is strange, indeed, how such men not only as Pelton and Finley, but such also as "Gobble," Patrick and Judge Kelly, wind into this man's unsuspecting confidence; and the literature they produce, compromising him and themselves, is somewhat stranger still. Fortunately this last letter is not in cipher, consequently we do not find it necessary to ask of Judge Kelly the loan of the "little dictionary" wherewith to interpret it.

We have another batch of the testimony in the exodus investigation. If this inquiry has produced any useful result whatever, it is because it has often brought out facts exactly opposite to those desired by the movers of it. Of course if any republican in congress had moved an inquiry into the cause which produced the exodus the majority would have defeated the proposal. But, as a reviewer of the testimony has remarked, the democrats having been put on a false scent by rumors of a political movement behind the exodus, themselves began and have carried out an investigation which has helped to refresh the memory of the whole country as to the condition of the colored citizens in the south, and their claims upon the nation for protection. The plan to prove that northern republicans had organized the movement to secure colored voters in doubtful states like Indiana, has broken down completely. But the proofs, if any were needed, that the emancipated slave is cheated and terrorized by his white neighbors, are put once more before the country by the help of a democratic investigation committee.

A writer in Appleton's Journal presents De Lesseps of canal celebrity in a character very much resembling that of a "measuring expert" operating on a vast scale. This scribe asserts that the Suez canal, which De Lesseps planned to cost $40,000,000 cost over $90,000,000, besides the lives of some 20,000 Egyptian laborers who fell victims to hard work and poor fare. He obtained important concessions from the khedive, but managed to avoid fulfilling his own obligations, while the Egyptian government was plunged deeper and deeper into debt. Egypt owed about $125,000,000, including its subscriptions, for the work by the time it was completed, which was more than the actual cost, and has security in bonds to offset only a small portion of its liabilities. If this is a true sample of the distinguished French engineer's financiering, the people of the United States will not have much confidence in the new plans of De Lesseps. The fact the president has doused his enterprise with cold water may prove to be a most fortunate circumstance.

It would appear from the Standard, if that paper is at all to be believed, that there has been double dealing between itself and the merchants' exchange. That, however, is no concern of ours, and they may settle it between them,—only the "expert," who will undoubtedly come out second best in any contest where truth and honor are concerned, need not bring the name of this paper into the dispute. He says the reports were not cut off from his paper, that he was ready and willing to pay $60 a month, but refused to pay $— a month, etc. The best refutation of this story is the fact that the exchange took $125 from us rather than $100 from us and $60 from the Standard. We do not think it preferred $25 a month to $60, and therefore we think it conclusive that Tony has again been "experting" with the truth.

In Weekly Notes, issued as supplement to the Penn Monthly, there is an article on the public school system of Philadelphia, in which we note the same criticism so often presented by this journal on the public schools here. The system in Philadelphia, the writer says, "errs chiefly in being too elaborate and ambitious, and in having throughout the whole course too much reference to the high school." All observers except merely superficial ones have noted the same thing in the schools of all our cities and towns.

The British navy is becoming a school for royalty. Not only are the two sons of the prince of Wales midshipmen, but Ernest, the thirteen-years-old son of the grand duke of Hesse and the late Princess Alice, is about to join. Queen Victoria is said, however, to be rather indifferent to the navy, taking more interest in the army.

It is related by the Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier Journal that a gentleman who saw a copy of Voltaire laying on Col. Robert Ingersoll's table, inquired: "How much did this book cost you?" and the colonel answered: "The governorship of Illinois."

Mr. Blaine, so far, has lost no votes he had in 1876, while he has gained the state of Indiana, thirty votes, and the state of Rhode Island, eight votes, neither of which he had in 1876, saying nothing of the votes he has gained in New York and Pennsylvania where he had none before.

MRS. E. ROHRS.

This lady favorably known to many of the readers of this paper as the proprietor of the Great Oregon Cure for the Lungs, and who formerly resided at Monmouth, where her valuable medicine was first prepared and placed upon the market, is now located at Indianapolis, Indiana, where she is still engaged in the manufacture of her valuable remedy. It has become very popular in the Eastern States, and Mrs. R. is said to be meeting with deserved success. Hodge, Davis & Co., Druggists of Portland, are her agents for this State and the Territories. They have recently received large supplies to meet the constant increasing demand for her remedy on this coast.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

TO MY CUSTOMERS AND THE PUBLIC

WHEREAS CERTAIN UNPRINCIPLED PERsons for the purpose of injuring my business and benefiting themselves, are going about representing that I have moved my DAIRY, MILK out into the country, and will not be able to serve my customers with milk twice a day during the summer. I find it necessary to caution my customers and the public against these misrepresentations, and to state that I have associated myself in the dairy business with Mr. J. W. Kern on the Kelly farm one mile from the ferry landing in East Portland, and that by this arrangement my facilities are greatly increased for furnishing milk promptly and regularly twice a day in summer to all my present customers, and any others that may wish me to supply them with good pure milk.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr. Lennon will close from 5 to 7 this evening in order to prepare for the opening at 7 o clock.

Read the advertisement of Shindler & Chadbourne, furniture dealers, No 166 First and 167 Front street. They have a very large and handsome stock of their own manufacture, and a splendid stock of carpets

Ladies should read the spring announcement of Olds King & Co The whole of their immense stock has been carefully selected in New York for cash, and will be sold at lowest possible prices. A short list of desirable specialties in dry goods will be found under "New To day."

L. Salinger & Co No 210 First street, between Taylor and Salmon—don't forget the number—having bought of S Lipman & Co., their entire stock of furnishing goods, embracing the best imported and domestic makes, amounting to $8065 will sell them at 70 cents on the dollar The stock includes a dozen Hathaway shirts, justly celebrated, which will now be placed within reach of the public.

No man who desires to be well dressed can afford to pass J. Kohn's clothing palace without stopping and examining their new and magnificent stock, and purchasing a suit, or at least some article. Mr Kohn has just received a large invoice of spring goods. Neat, nobby suits, just to fit, can be had cheap. A perfect fit is guaranteed and prices satisfactory. Remember the old stand corner of First and Morrison streets.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Carr, lately with the O S. N. Co has gone to California for his health

E. P. Albright secretary of the Oregon Transfer and Street Railway Co returned on the Oregon after an absence of four months in the Sandwich Islands and in Southern California He looks well.

Mr. Henry Villard left New York Monday evening, bound west. He will reach San Francisco in time to sail for Portland on the next trip of the Oregon, April 18th Mr Villard comes to look after the interests of the several lines of railroads and steamers on this part of the coast in which he is so largely interested.

A REQUEST.

The undersigned request their patrons not to identify them henceforth with the name I X L, as they wish to put a stop to the continued attempts of imposition on the public which is made daily by parties who possess not an iota of shame nor a particle of self respect. Respectfully

TRIBUTE TO COMMODORE CONNOR

At a meeting of the officers of the steamship Oregon held on board March [illegible] the following preamble and resolutions were adopted

WHEREAS Our late commander Commodore Francis Connor after a long and honorable career has been called to his rest by the Great Admiral above and we who are left and who have known him [illegible] desire to express our love and veneration for him and our appreciation of the loss we have sustained therefore be it

Resolved That in his death the merchant marine has lost a most capable and gallant officer one who reflected honor upon his profession and whose talents and efficiency were a sure guaranty of the safety of the ship and lives entrusted to his care.

Resolved That in his death we have lost we may well say both father and friend, whose matured wisdom and unfailing judgment we have seen tried in times of great peril

Resolved That we tender his widow our sincere condolence in her affliction and

Resolved That we will attend his funeral in a body and that these resolutions signed by us all be delivered to his widow as a token of our sympathy in her great sorrow and in testimony of our mutual loss.

A FATAL SHOT.

Sergeant Carroll, of Co. K, 21st Infantry Fatally Shoots Himself with a Pistol—Probably an Accidental Shot

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

VANCOUVER, April 6—A tragical affair was enacted here this forenoon about half-past 11 o clock Sergeant Michael Carroll of Company K 21st Infantry, shot himself in the head, producing death almost instantaneously The weapon used was an army revolver of Colt's patent. The ball entered just beneath the chin and ranging upward and backward, lodged in the brain. Sergeant Carroll at the time had charge of a party of prisoners He was in the sergeants' room at the barracks and alone It is not known definitely whether the fatal shot was fired with suicidal intent or the result of an accident However there are some circumstances which lead to the conclusion that the killing was accidental

H. B. LITT'S SUIT HOUSE.

One of the new enterprises of Portland which deserves more than a passing notice, and in which every lady who desires to be well dressed is interested is the suit establishment of H. B. Litt, corner of Third and Alder. The forelady, Mrs Riley, one of the best, if not best in her line on the coast, has full charge of the designing and draping department, while Mrs Litt superintends the cutting and fitting Mr Litt offers one advantage to patrons which is not to be had elsewhere, and which will be appreciated by every lady who has had the experience of paying for a dress that did not fit and then the annoyance of wearing it A lady can examine a dress pattern in any legitimate dry goods house and price the goods Mr Litt will buy the material pay for it make it up and when finished if not a perfect fit the intending purchaser can leave the dress without ceremony Mr. Litt has a splendid stock of silks and dress goods and will send samples free on application

STREET IMPROVEMENT THEORIES

PORTLAND, April [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The city council lately gave [illegible] notice of [illegible]

[illegible]

The foregoing proposals [illegible] street improvements are now [illegible] and we propose [illegible] bring before them in review the advantages and otherwise of [illegible] improvement [illegible] plank [illegible] feet of [illegible] street would leave ten feet [illegible] to the curb on each side [illegible] half the year impassable and impossible for a carriage [illegible] wagon to approach any premises between the cross streets [illegible] value from [illegible] we gave to each property owner [illegible] himself [illegible] including the [illegible] planking, [illegible] street costs [illegible] macadam [illegible] curb [illegible] the figures [illegible] the full consideration [illegible] about the same extent as Nicolson pavement and every four or five years has to be renewed while macadamized improvement remains as a permanent foundation for future repairs—or any improved mode of street work in fact hardens the street bed and cheapens its perpetual repair while wooden pavement of any kind is of an opposite result These experimental street work facts apply as well to Fourth street as to Alder both in cost household convenience of carriage and wagon approach and economy to property owners of permanence of effect in outlay at substantially the same cost in wisely choosing between macadam and plank to have a street bed ready for stone block when business extension may require in any growing quarter of our city As a further proof of the solidness of our foregoing suggestions we cite the late letting of Front street improvement under the Nicolson ordinance and the lowest bid under its specifications was $2 09 per square yard and last week the same was taken to pave with stone block for $1 85 per square yard These results are presented to the consideration of property holders in due sincerity by one who assumes to comprehend the subject

A CELEBRATED CASE

Teal & Goldsmith vs Hewitt & Walker

PORTLAND OR April [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] heard the creditor [illegible] equity [illegible] forfeiture [illegible] in any way By [illegible] the exact day of its terms the mortgaged land passed to the mortgagee and he became absolute owner and the full penalty of a bond was to be enforced if the conditions were not performed at the exact time [illegible] equity [illegible] against these penalties and forfeitures and in this way grew up the doctrine of redemptions and relief against the penalties of bonds and where a court of equity will relieve against a penalty or forfeiture this fundamental doctrine of that court not to enforce a penalty or forfeiture And the palpable reason of this is that a penalty or forfeiture is an exaction of the law and if it is not enforceable there equity has no conscience to enforce it. Story Eq Jur the highest authority [illegible] says Thus for instance if a borrower of money upon usurious interest seeks to have the aid of a court of equity in cancelling or procuring the instrument to be delivered up the court will not interfere in his favor unless upon the terms that he will pay the lender what is really and bona fide due to him Willard's Equity, p 57 says Lord Hardwicke (considered almost the father of equity jurisprudence) laid down the rule thus Equity will relieve against almost all penalties whatsoever against non payment of money at a certain day against forfeitures of copyholds So it is a standing rule of the court that a forfeiture shall not bind when a thing may be done afterwards or a compensation may be made for it If there was any forfeiture of the lien upon Teal's lands he should have sued for them in an action at law that was the true test and criterion If he could not have recovered his lands in an action at law there was not any forfeiture of the lien upon them Because no prior case can be found of a court of equity declaring a forfeiture By well considered cases in respectable courts Teal and Goldsmith both placed themselves in the situation of principals by executing the conveyances to Hewitt to the extent of the conveyances An absolute conveyance of land as security being decreed to be forfeited for laches in not collecting the debt (the delay was very short) is monstrous and such in the name of equity Could a star chamber court make decrees with less reason in them?

CITY HOMESTEAD.

THE LAND IN THIS ENTERPRISE LIES adjoining the city and is only from ten to fifteen minutes walk from the court house and a less distance than that from one of the best public schools in the city It is divided into

One Thousand and Twenty-Four Lots,

Fifty by one hundred feet in size with streets sixty feet wide Two hundred of these lots will be reserved for those who desire to improve and build this summer and fall These lots will be sold on the same liberal terms that are offered in the Homestead proper

Price.

All lots will be sold for $100 each payable in installments of $ per month or the small sum of 16⅔ cents per day No interest will be charged and a good and sufficient Bond for Deed will be given upon the payment of the first installment of $5, and a Warranty Deed upon receipt of last installment both without expense to purchaser

Appreciation of Values.

By reference to The Oregonian of Feb 15th, it will be found that city property has advanced twenty five per cent during the past year As there has been no excitement the rise is wholly attributable to the increasing immigration and the growing confidence inspired by our numerous railroad enterprises and the development of our many natural resources that have hitherto slumbered for lack of energetic men to develop them

It is True,

That of all real estate investments the homestead plan is the best and safest as all who invest are interested in making the whole property more valuable To illustrate Suppose A builds a house on his lot and B owns a lot adjoining B gets the benefit of A's improvement while A is not injured thereby This philosophy will apply to the entire property

We have donated a lot [illegible] each of the principal churches for church purposes

In addition to the above two lots are set apart for public school purposes

Division,

The division of this property will take place when the lots are all sold or in any event not later than the

RAILROAD MEETING AT KINGS VALLEY.

[illegible] meeting was held in King's valley [illegible] of extending the west side narrow gauge [illegible] to that place Although [illegible] had [illegible] few hours notice [illegible] their ships [illegible] and fastened [illegible] eighty [illegible] they ourselves [illegible] matter The meeting was organized by electing [illegible] chairman

The Oregon Railway Company was represented by Mr K B Macker [illegible]

[illegible] Quina Bay

[illegible]

Mr Mackenzie then stated that he desired a committee appointed to ascertain the wishes of the citizens in respect to the line of the road and to canvass for subscriptions to aid the company If sufficient encouragement was given to justify the undertaking then the committee could contract with the company to build the road Mr Mackenzie did not think the road could be completed to King's valley this season as the company had already agreed to construct nearly one hundred miles of road in other parts of the state

A committee was then appointed consisting of Frank Collins W Bump, W J Connor and James Chambers.

The people were well pleased with the liberal proposition and expressed a determination to raise the amount required at once and try to induce the company to build the railroad to King's valley this fall The citizens consider this as the only fair and reasonable proposition ever made to them to build a railroad They feel that the company is in earnest in the matter that the road is to be built for the benefit of the laborers farmers merchants and all classes of citizens and they are willing to give all the assistance in their power

It is about time the Corvallis and Yaquina Bay Railroad Company was at work on its road if it is ever to be completed by the present company The race now seems to be between the Scotch and the English company to reach Yaquina Bay with chances decidedly in favor of the Scotch reaching salt water first and we the people say Come on Build your railroad and we will help you Portland King's valley and Newport connected by railway makes Portland the great commercial center of the state—Newport, a seaport town rival to San Francisco and King's valley the beautiful Garden of Eden of the Willamette valley

TO THE FRONT.
Attention! Attention! Attention!

Is called to the fact that we have just received, per steamer State of California, a LARGE BANKRUPT STOCK, purchased in New York by MR. J FRANKLIN at 50 cents on the dollar, and the way we intend to show you that what we say is so, and not merely bragging, is by giving you a Price List that will astonish you all and if these figures are not the LOWEST in Oregon, we will stand aside and take a back seat. Competition is the life of trade, and there is so much competition in Portland that goods must be sold low to gain trade, and owing to the facilities we have in having our own wholesale house in San Francisco at 18 and 20 Battery street, we will again state that our prices cannot be beat.

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHŒA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

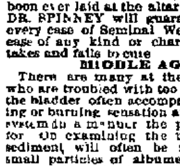
CHRONIC DISEASES OF MALES AND FEMALES A SPECIALTY

To the Unfortunate,



DR. GIBBON'S DISPENSARY,

623 Kearny St., S. F.

For the treatment of Sexual Diseases, Gonorrhœa, Gleet Stricture Syphilis, Impotency.

Seminal Weakness,

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, produces the following train of symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, spots under the eyes, pain in the head ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision blunted intellect, loss of confidence a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath, coughs, consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity. Persons may be CURED AT HOME by addressing Dr Gibbon stating case symptoms, length of time the disease has continued. Medicines forwarded free from curiosity with full directions. By enclosing Ten Dollars in registered letter, or through Wells Fargo & Co , a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the World. Address DR. J F GIBBON, Box 1,957, San Francisco, Say you read this in THE OREGONIAN.

DR. SPINNEY,

No. 11 Kearny Street.

Treats all Chronic and Special Diseases

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM THE effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be of a thin milkish hue again changing to a dark and torpid appearance There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of seminal weakness Dr S will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases and a healthy restoration of the genito urinary organs

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8 Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free Thorough examination and advice $5 Call or address
